DAILY TRIBUNE.

CITY OF CHICAGO.

THURSDAY MORNING.... MAY 31, 1855.

TO TEMPERANCE MEN.

The time for the discussion of the principles involved in the Prohibitory law is passed, and the time for action has arrived. Are you ready? Have you made your arrangements in such a manner that you can devote the whole of next Monday to the good cause? Have you resolved to put aside all business on that day, except the great business of the salvation of the State from the curses that follow the rum traffic? Have you talked with your neighbor who is indifferent on the subject, and have you his promise to go with you to the polls? Do you know that there will be a full supply of ballots in your neighborhood? Have you secured the services of good challengers, that all fraudulent and illegal votes may be kept out? In a word, ARE YOU READY?

EXCLUSIVE PRIVILEGES.

There is no power vested in the hands of a legislative body that requires more sound discretion in its exercise, than that which grants to companies or individuals exclusive privileges. In all corporations and municipal bodies the unwise concession of chartered rights and franchises, has been productive, sooner or later, of crying evils and oppressive monopolies. When such privileges are asked, they should not be lightly granted. The interests and wishes of individuals should not be taken into the account. The advantage of the whole should only be considered, and that advantage should not have the present time only for its object. Reference to the future condition and wants of the contracting parties should be close and discriminating. Above all, no political or personal bias or favoritism should be allowed to have weight in opposition to what prudence and good policy demand.

We do not know whether these conditions which are incident to the proper exercise of the power that vests companies with exclusive privileges, have or have not been observed in the ordinance that permits the laying down of a railroad track in State street and that surrenders the entire control of that road to certain named persons. We have no reason to suppose that anything outside of the public good has been contemplated; but as the contract, we learn, is yet to be reviewed by the Common Council, we hope that it will be scrutinized with a particularity that will leave no latent defect unexposed and unamended. It is not for this year or next year alone; but it runs to a period of time in which Chicago will be a great commercial and manufacturing capital of the country, with a population larger than that now boasted of by New York and all her dependencies—to a time when a franchise that may now be granted to any who ask as a matter of public comfort and convenience, will be immensely valuable to those in whom it vests, and a serious annoyance if not positive wrong to those at whose expense it is exercised. This fact, in all city legislation should not be lost sight of, no matter what particular subject is under consideration; and in a question of so much importance as that to which we refer, it should be the fact to which all others are subordinate.

A CASE DECIDED.

Judge McLean, of the United States Supreme Court, has over-ruled the motion for an injunction to prevent the Rock Island Railroad Company from building a bridge across the Mississippi at Rock Island. This decision probably settles that question in this country for all time to come, and in a manner, too, that justice and the interests of the majority concerned, demand. The Company will proceed at once to complete the bridge, and put Chicago in unbroken railroad connection with the interior of Iowa. The known energy of those who have the work in charge, insures its speedy accomplishment.

As St. Louis, Buffalo and Cincinnati are just now troubled about Chicago matters, will the editors in those respective villages we have named, give us their opinions touching this, the last "Cut-off."

THE GAME OF WAR.—A Paris correspondent represents Louis Napoleon playing the game of war by telegraph. He says:—"the wires of the telegraph which connect Balaklava with Paris, are brought into the Tuileries, where a large chamber is fitted up with an exact fac-simile of every thing in the Crimea. There is a model of Sebastopol, maps and plans of every part, exact descriptions of every elevation, fortifications, &c.; and as each movement is made by the troops from hour to hour, the telegraph wires are set in motion at Balaklava to apprise the imperial occupant of the Tuileries, who in his turn, replies by directions to what is next to be done." This is hardly probable but it shows what miracles the telegraph is capable of accomplishing.

LAYING OUT WORK.

The Richmond Enquirer is laying out work for the next Congress that is easier in the planning than in the execution. It is bent upon having the Senators and Representatives from Massachusetts turned out of the Capitol and the District of Columbia, as a punishment to that glorious State for her Free Soil principles. Hear the Enquirer:

"The slaveholding States can no longer, with safety, delay to act. What course shall they pursue? This is a grave question, but it must be promptly and decisively met. If the new Massachusetts law goes into effect, it will be the duty of the South to resist the entrance of the members of either branch of Congress from that State into the Capitol until it is expunged from her code book! The South remains in its bearing to the North precisely where it stood when Washington first entered upon his Presidential duties. It has never been guilty of the slightest aggression on any of the so called free States. From this position it must not swerve a line.

The metropolis of the Republic is located within its limits. That metropolis it must control, and expel therefrom the Goths and Vandals who are undermining our great political edifice. Members of either House who come from a State which sets at defiance a constitutional provision, or a law palpably in conformity with that constitutional provision, should be permitted to take his seat."

The expulsion of Senator Sumner has been talked of before; but it was not expected that the whole delegation would be included in the fate that threatens him. When the work is done, we shall probably hear of it.

From the Illinois Journal.

A HARD HIT.

ST. LOUIS, May 28, 1855.

To the Editors of the Illinois Journal:

Enclosed you will find statement of expenses of distillery carried on by our friend, Mr. Von Snelder, which should have been forwarded to the "Anti-Prohibitionist," a paper published at Chicago, for publication, according to request; but fearing it might be too late for general circulation, I send it to you, hoping that from your central position, it may sooner reach the mass of voters, and, perhaps, enlighten some lukewarm friend of distilleries and groceries and [illegible] ... to [illegible] himself in the cause.

I do not know the name of the editor of the "Anti-Prohibitionist" but as he sent me a paper containing a general call for such intelligence, if you publish this, I would be glad you would send a copy to him or his paper, and one to [illegible]. JOHN J. MILES(?)

To the Anti-Prohibition [illegible]

Distillery of Peter Von Snelder, of St. Clair County, Illinois.

Statement of Capital and Expenses annually incurred, viz, as follows:

[illegible]

I may be questioned whether I have any right to include debts due me by hands, but it is customary to charge all losses of this kind against the business; [illegible]

Hoping you will give this wide publicity in your valuable journal,

I am, very respectfully, yours,

PETER VON SNELDER.

EXPLOSION ON LAKE WINNEBAGO.—We learn from Mr. C. G. Robinson, of the Green Bay Advocate, who arrived in town last evening, that the steamer Sampson, plying between Fond du Lac and Calumet, while lying at the latter place, exploded a boiler on Friday last, killing the Engineer and the Captain's son, and injuring one or two other persons severely. The boat was badly damaged.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

AMERICAN OPINIONS OF THE WAR.

The leading English journals express the opinion that the popular sentiment of this country sympathizes with Russia, in the contest now going on between the Eastern and Western Powers; and our newspapers are pointed to as affording conclusive proof of anti-English feeling. The time has been since the war opened, when the Russian sentiment was uppermost; but since the objects of the struggle have been better understood, by the publication of the ample information that has filled the American papers, a decided change is manifested in the currents of popular opinion; and we believe that never before, since the war of 1812, has the English nation so fully commanded the respect and sympathy of the American people, as at the present time. The change is not so apparent in the newspapers as elsewhere—in public assemblages, at the social board and in private society. The American journals have, almost without exception, prostituted themselves to the Irish opinions of the English people and the English government; and their example has been widely followed by the popular leaders of party in pursuit of votes. The constant iteration and reiteration of exaggerated encomiums of the Irish character; the constant parrot-like affirmation of Irish prejudice, coupled with the causes of irritation incident to the sharp rivalry of two great commercial countries, have given a tone to American sentiment that is fast breaking down before better and more enlightened opinions. Irish prejudices are found to be not wholly infallible; and Irish influence not yet omnipotent. The orator who would in a public speech amuse himself, as has been done a countless number of times, by uttering studied praise of the noble Celts, of their patriotism, their devotion to Republicanism, and such other nonsense and balderdash as we are accustomed to hear from the stump, would surely be hissed for his pains; and an editor pursuing the same course in his journal, would soon reduce his list of readers to a non-paying point. We have too many of that race in this country to be longer deluded. Their improvidence, bad habits, their want of reliability, their absurd gasconade and blarney, are too well understood to be longer capable of influencing the popular mind. With this emancipation from an influence that has been so long dominant, comes returning justice to a brave and loyal people whom it has been heretofore fashionable to contemn—a people living under a constitutional but imperfect government, of the Protestant faith, of the Anglo-Saxon stock—the people of a glorious past, and, we trust, a bright and hopeful future. The revolution in public sentiment will have its effect upon the hopes of Americans for the success of the Allies. Not all the demagoguism of the old parties and politicians can prevent it. The alliance of England with France under the rule of Napoleon, is a serious drawback to the expression of what the thoughtful and earnest men of this country feel; but they know that the union is compulsory, and they hope that crimes of the Emperor have been exaggerated and his ultimate purposes misrepresented. They see that, in such a war, France could not be a spectator merely; her aid or her enmity was to be chosen. Was it not well to choose the former?

The anxiety of the English leading papers to secure the sympathy of the American people for the cause of the Allies, is a hopeful symptom of the world's progress. Never before has the influence of mere opinion been so powerful in all Christendom. The indications of the present point to the coming of a day, when that OPINION purified and strengthened by a deep and earnest religious sense, will be the arbiter to which national disputes will be referred.

DISCRIMINATING.—The Presbyterian General Assembly of St. Louis, a few days ago, passed a series of very strong resolutions condemnatory of intemperance, which were well and necessary; but the same body "hemmed and hawed," hesitated and boggled over a series of resolutions declaratory that American slavery is wrong per se, which was not well. We have almost come to the conclusion, in defiance of the usual action of general assemblies and conferences, that it is almost as bad to sell a child into slavery or a woman for purposes of prostitution, as to drink a glass of whisky, or even to get moderately drunk, particularly as the blessings to be conferred by the Maine Law are so near at hand. It may be very rash for laymen like ourselves to express an opinion that may be declared heterodox by the clergy; but we can't help it. The readers of the TRIBUNE need not be told that it supports the prohibitory law distinctly and unequivocally, and that it will continue to do so until the last day in the evening. But they will agree with us that, when a national crime of such overshadowing magnitude as our slave system can go unrebuked by an important and influential ecclesiastical body, the protests of that body against minor sins will not carry with them that weight which they deserve.

OHIO.—We regret to see that a contest has arisen in Ohio over the different candidates for Governor. M. CHASE is urged by a large portion of the Republican party, by the Free Democrats and by the original Anti-Slavery men. Mr. Brinkerhoff is the candidate of the K. N. party; and between the friends of the two gentlemen a sharp contest is likely to ensue. Illinois has nothing to say in the matter; but we are confident that, if the Republican party in this State could be permitted to decide the question, Mr. Chase would receive nine-tenths of their votes. His election at this time would be a rebuke to the Administration in Ohio, and a triumph over Senator Pugh, the consequences of which, to the nation at large, cannot be over-estimated.—Again: When Know Nothingism attempts to take by the throat a man who has rendered the country a service for which we thank SALMON P. CHASE, it is time that it should be rebuked. If his failure to become a member of that Order is his only offense, and if that outweighs his great public services in the cause of Freedom, let it be so understood.

RETURN OF EUROPEAN PAUPERS.

The Boston Daily Advertiser, a thorough paced Hunker journal, lately set up a doleful cry over the return of a pauper woman to Ireland whence she came. Of course the pro-slavery journals contrast this act with the opposition made to the return of the fugitive Burns, and cry, "Shame! Boston, shame!" The case is summed up by the N. Y. Tribune thus:

"An English or Irish girl, unmarried but likely to become a mother, is brought to Massachusetts, and imposed as a pauper upon the charity of that State. Massachusetts not choosing thus to be made a convenience of, sends her home, and her illegitimate child with her, to the place whence she came and where she has a legal right to be supported at the public expense—a title as valid as that of any English land owner to his freehold. The girl prefers to be supported by and in Massachusetts. She cries about it and the Boston Journals cry too. We are glad to see them cry. A few tears shed for humanity's sake will do them good; even crocodile tears we are inclined to regard as better than nothing. But in this particular case we can't cry with them."

DEATH OF A COMMODORE.—Commodore Henry E. Ballard, U. S. Navy, died at his residence near Annapolis, Md., on the 23d inst. He was over 70 years of age, and had been in the service some 51 years. He received the commission of Commodore in 1825.

BRITISH PATRIOTIC FUND.—The Legislative Council of Australia have voted £20,000 to the British Patriotic Fund.

COURT OF CLAIMS.—An exchange calculates that, if the Court of Claims were to dispose of 200 cases per day, it would require ten years to get through those now ready for its action.

CHINESE EMIGRATION.

The New York Times is much opposed to the coming of any more Chinese to that city. If the following portrait of an inhabitant of the Flowery Land is not overdrawn, we are not sure that the Times is wholly wrong: He brings, for the most part, his baggy trousers and shirt along with him, and they last forever, or are replaced at an outlay of seven and sixpence. He consumes no products of the country except a few shillings worth of rice; he does no labor, pursues no industrial calling, but he sells stale candy and inferior cigars, or drops in despairing attitude upon Broadway's Sunday sidewalk, and collects quarters and sixpences in his flat, tufted hat.

The males of this class are notoriously idle in their own country. They are worse when they come here, and the women, if we may judge by California newspapers, would quickly reduce Police Captain Carpenter to a shadow, with despair. They will not work unless treated as they are at the guano islands, and the public works in Havana, as slaves. They cannot be so treated here, and there would therefore be no remedy for their laziness. They are not even beneficial to the landlords, for they flock together like pigeons, as the reader may see for himself, in Cherry street or Gold street.

Now an immigration of people who add nothing to the industry of the country, who detract from its morality, who consume almost nothing of its products, who scarcely aid its home commerce, who make poor sailors and no soldiers at all, yet who accumulate and carry off its gold and silver, is worthy of the attention of the authorities whom it concerns, before it increases, as it threatens to do, to an alarming extent.

VIRGINIA CONGRESSMEN ELECT.

The triumph of Mr. Wise in Virginia is accompanied by the election of the entire Democratic delegation to Congress. The candidates were:

Dist.	American.	Democratic.
I.	Robert Anderson.	Thomas H. Bayly.
II.	Samuel Watts.	John S. Millson.
III.	Wm. C. Scott.	John S. Caskie.
IV.	Littleton Tazewell.	Wm. O. Goode.
V.	N. C. Claiborne.	Thomas S. Bocock.
VI.	Littlebury N. Ligon.	Paulus Powell.
VII.	Alex. R. Boteler.	Charles J. Faulkner.
IX.	———	Hy. A. Edmondson.
X.	Wm. R. Pendleton.	Sherrard Clemens.
XI.	John S. Carlisle.	Zedekiah Kidwell.
XII.	Walter R. Staples.	Charles S. Lewis.
XIII.	———	Fayette McMullen.

Except Mr. Clemens, the elect are all members of the present Congress, and all are furious Nebraska, pro-slavery men, as were their opponents, the K. N.'s. We do not see who, north of Mason & Dixon's line, has gained or lost by the result.

TO BE ABANDONED.—The Madison and Indianapolis railroad company propose to abandon the Columbus and Shelbyville road, take up the rails and sell them.

Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroad.

The receipts upon this road are going up beyond all precedents, and all estimates thus far made. Up to and including the 25th, the receipts for May were as follows:

Passengers,	$16,534 32
Freight,	31,895 94
Total,	$47,430 26

The following shows the receipts for the six days ending with the 25th:

19th,	$2,513 44
21st,	3,034 21
22d,	2,613 33
23d,	2,988 62
24th,	3,270 60
25th,	3,010 39
Total,	$17,430 59

With the receipts from mail and express, and from the Watertown road, the total for May will be about $65,000. The receipts for May, 1854, were $41,751 31.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Kansas News.

A Kansas Herald of Freedom extra dated May 23d says:

"We have just heard the result of the great convention held at Leavenworth on the 28th of April to depose the Governor and to elect another in his place. The whole thing proved a total failure, with the exception: it was changed into a "squatter meeting" for the purpose of redressing some grievances growing out of the settlement on the Delaware lands, and it ended in the death of Malcom Clark at the hands of Mr. McCrea, the particulars of which we have already given.

A committee was appointed at a subsequent meeting of the persons engaged in this transaction, to warn suspected persons to leave the Territory. In accordance with that resolve, we learn that Mr. Gould, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Grant and Mr. Warren, have each received notice to depart by a given day. An attempt was made to drive Mr. Phillips off, but as he did not appear willing to go at his master's bidding, he was arrested by this committee, taken across the river to Weston, Mo., his head was shaved, after which he was tarred and feathered, rode upon a rail, then an attempt was made to force him to sign an instrument of writing, agreeing to expatriate himself forever from Kansas. He refused to comply, but as it was found an attempt at rescue was about to be made, he was set at liberty, with an injunction that if he was ever again found in Kansas Territory he should be hung. We are proud to learn that the next morning he was in Leavenworth running balls, and had taken a solemn resolve that he was done with boy's play.

We wait with great anxiety for further intelligence, which we hope to receive in time for our regular issue. Suffice it to say, a general fight was expected at last advices."

Tariff of State Tolls on the Sault Canal.

The present State tariff of tolls, says the Detroit Inquirer, is fixed at a minimum of four cents per ton, measurement, which would give on an ordinary schooner, from $10 to $15

On a brig,	17.50 to 20
On a large propeller,	25
On side wheel steamers,	40 to 50

The means of getting boats and propellers through the canal, is of course by the use of their wheels, but sail vessels will require to be towed, and for that purpose horses will be required; the expense of towage falling, of course, upon the vessels. A wide and handsome towpath has been made upon the right bank of the work, and a corresponding heel path upon the left bank.

On the twenty-first, the day on which the State authorities were upon the works, there was 12 feet 8 inches of water at the head of the upper pier, and 12 feet 5 inches in depth in the lower lock, consequently any vessel, no matter how heavily laden, which can navigate the western waters, could pass up and down with ease, as the locks are seventy feet in width, and three hundred and fifty feet in length, in the clear. The average class of steamers do not draw over nine feet, loaded.

The artificial walls, or banks of the canal are from seventy to one hundred feet in thickness at the bottom, and thirty-five feet at the higher water line, standing on both slopes at an angle of forty-five degrees, lined with dry stone work on the sides inward. The length of the canal is about seven-eights of a mile, and the width seventy feet at bottom, and one hundred feet at the water line line.

THE CHINESE WAR.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune, sends to that paper additional particulars of the taking of Shanghai by the Imperial party.

After a siege of nearly a year and a half the City of Shanghai, by the assistance of the French, fell into the hands of the Imperial party. All supplies had been effectually cut off—some of the country people had starved, and dogs, cats and horses had been eaten. The rebels then concluded that it was time to leave and on the night of the 26th ult., took their departure. About 11 o'clock at night the city was set on fire in different places—some say by the rebels and others say by the Imperialists who entered soon after the rebels left. The fire raged till the afternoon of the next day and a large part of the town was reduced to ashes. Fortunately all the Missionary Churches escaped; though houses were burned adjoining some of them. Notwithstanding the city was closely besieged, the large majority of the rebels made their escape. Some sixty or seventy found their way to the American Guard House, where they were kept till the next day, when Capt. Pope told them to look out for themselves. The Imperialists caught some three or four hundred, whom they beheaded. It is now generally believed that neither of the chiefs was caught. The first day the city was given up to the pillaging of the soldiery who took what little the former occupants had left. The second day the mandarins endeavored to restore order and freely administered the bamboo to those who were caught stealing. I took a walk through the town and could but feel sad at the desolation everywhere visible; whole streets were in ruins, and the beggars were picking and pilling at the fragments. Here and there was a crisped skeleton, while along the lanes and in the houses were headless bodies ripped up and cut in the most barous manner. The sick and wounded were all murdered wherever found. They even opened the coffins and cut the bodies of the dead to gratify their cowardly vengeance. As I returned I met seven or eight baskets full of heads, each containing ten, and men following with bamboo poles on which to stick them up in different parts of the city as a warning to all future rebels. But I must forbear lest your readers should sicken at the details of heathen cruelty. Notwithstanding their outward polish the Chinese have proved in this war that they have the hearts of savages.

A REVOLUTION IN BOOT AND SHOE MAKING.—A few days since, in Utica, a number of Frenchmen were negotiating for the establishment in that city of a manufactory of boots and shoes by machinery. The exploits of these machines are well nigh marvelous, but the assertions of these gentlemen are so backed up by authentic documents as to preclude the supposition of imposition. It is said that the manufacture of a fine shoe will cost but ten cents, and that of a fine boot but fifteen or twenty cents. If these things be so, lap-stones and wax-ends will soon be at a discount. Specimens of coarse and fine work of every variety, and of most admirable finish, are shown, and the most ample guaranty is offered as to the performance of these machines.

We notice by the Utica Telegraph that the matter is now public, and that immediate steps are to be taken to organize a company. The Telegraph says that the owners are now in Washington securing a patent for their machine, and it thus speaks of its performance:

"The machine is so perfect that it is only necessary to place in it two pieces of sole and upper leather, and in an incredibly short space of time it turns out a complete boot or shoe, as is desired. We learn that a number of capitalists of this city are negotiating for the purchase of the patent, and that it is their intention, should they succeed in securing it, to purchase the Globe Mills and to convert them into an extensive boot and shoe manufactory, employing some seven hundred hands. A gentleman in this city, now extensively interested in manufacturing, is in New York negotiating for the purchase of the patent."

The machines can be run by women and boys, and their proper management does not require knowledge of the present way of making boots and shoes.—Cleveland Herald.

TERRIBLE OCCURRENCE.—This morning our citizens were thrown into excitement on the intelligence that four of our citizens—Sylvanus Rich, William Campbell, Seymour Douglas and Henry Jones, had been poisoned at Juneau last night. The particulars, as far as we can learn, are these: They went over to Juneau to a dancing party at the Juneau House, taking with them some bottles of champagne, arriving there, deposited them in a wood box up stairs, and proceeded to the amusement. It appears that the house had been undergoing a course of cleaning, and that a bottle of bed bug poison had been placed for security by the servants in this box previously. Towards morning the boys feeling thirsty determined to dispatch the champagne, proceeded in the dark to the box, took out a bottle, poured out its contents into glasses and drank; some of them swallowed the draughts, the others only a portion. Instantly—but too late—finding out the mistake, the one who poured out the poisonous fluid flung the bottle through the window.

Messengers were sent for medical assistance, and Dr. Winter from this place was soon on the spot, everything was done that possibly could alleviate their dreadful sufferings, and at the last intelligence hopes are entertained that two of them will recover, but the other two are in a very critical condition.—Horicon (Wis.) Argus, 25th inst.

FOREIGN NEWS.

BY THE AMERICA.

ERUPTION OF VESUVIUS.—NAPLES, May 2.—Everything in Naples is extinguished by one great fact—the eruption of Vesuvius. King, ministers, and policemen, in their several spheres are all scorched and shriveled up into nothingness. I am disposed to think that a Neapolitan might now wear a girdle around his waist, or a beard, or a wide-awake, so all absorbing is the eruption of Vesuvius. We have been expecting and longing for it some time. The wells at Resina had been dried up. More than once since 1850, the mountain has thundered and smoked, and in the beginning of the year a portion of the crater fell in. Great numbers of strangers have, therefore, waited till very late in the season, in the hope of seeing this extraordinary spectacle, and have just taken their leave as the mountain, as in "dispetto," breaks out.—The principal guide, who is called Cozzolino, reported on the morning of the 1st of May that he had just ascended the mountain, and that on arriving on the summit there were a thousand reports as of cannon, and then a shower up a discharge of red hot stones, the rain and mist, and smoke, however, all mingled together, prevented a near approach or nearer observation, and we are therefore, for the present, left to our own unaided observations. During the whole of yesterday nothing was to be seen but smoke and clouds, which enveloped not only the mountain but the whole coast, and then swept away in immense volumes towards Capri. In the centre of the cloud, however, might be seen an ashy sulphurous colored plain, which, by a shade difference in the color and by the well marked outline, indicated that it was not all smoke, but that lava was coming down. As evening came on, the heavens were in a bright glow, and the whole population flocked down to the mole of Santa Lucia, to see the magnificent spectacle. It was one of those undefined scenes which give the imagination full play. The form of the mountain was undistinguishable, nothing was to be seen but clouds, smoke, and fire. Up to the very zenith the sky was covered with large bulbous clouds as black as ink, and fringed with white; underneath, and half way down the mountain, everything was on fire, whilst in the centre of it shot up a cone of black smoke. Still lower again, dark clouds covered the base of the mountain, having, too, as the centre piece and contrast the river of lava which is running down towards Resina. A few days since I was exploring with the miners, among the ruins which lay buried under the modern city. The neighboring mountain was rumbling and smoking, and referring the inhabitants, as it were, to the history of the past, but they no notice of it, and I doubt whether they now do so, except to calculate the amount of profit it may bring in to them; for an eruption of Vesuvius is to them as good as a fire to the London thieves. During the whole of last night there was a perfect procession of carriages towards Resina. The scene was rendered still grander by an eclipse of the moon, which took place about two hours and a half after midnight.

PRESENT STRENGTH OF RUSSIA IN THE CRIMEA.—The military correspondent of the Augsburg Gazette writes from the Polish frontier that the reinforcements received by the Russian commanders in the west of the Crimea since the battle of Inkerman, bear no proportion to those which have joined the allies. He says: "Numerically, Omar Pacha's corps alone is almost equal to the entire reinforcements of the Russians. The new Russian troops which have entered the Crimea since the battle just mentioned, are the following: The 2nd Brigade of the 13th reserve infantry division, and the two brigades of the 14th reserve infantry division, forming together twelve battalions, or at most 9,000 men; further, the 9th infantry division, at present near Perekop, and numbering possibly 10,000 men. These and a Greek volunteer battalion make up the reinforcements of the Russian infantry since the battle of Inkerman, for the troops of the second infantry corps, reported by some journals as having marched to the Crimea, and the division of General Wagner, said by the Austrian Gazette to be in the valley of Baidar, are not there; the second corps, in fact, is still in Poland. Before the battle of Inkerman the Russians had no more than 70,000 infantry in the Crimea; at the present moment they should have about 90,000. The cavalry force which has joined the Russian army since the battle of Inkerman, consists of six regular regiments. If we reckon the crews of the ships at 8,000, and the Tchernomorskischen battalions at 6,000; the rifles, sappers, engineers, and artillery at 15,000; and the cavalry, regular, and irregular, at 20,000, the Russian army at Perekop, Eupatoria, and near Sebastopol, will number about 140,000."

THE ASSASSIN PIANORI.—It is thought that the assassin Pianori, who, since his condemnation, has been removed to the prison of the Roquette, where prisoners under sentence of death or hard labor for life are kept, will not undergo his punishment as soon as was expected. Three days are allowed for appeal, but it does not appear that he has used his right. If no delay takes place in the execution—the opinion being all but unanimous, both on the part of the Judges and of the public, against a mitigation of punishment—it will be owing, probably, to the information recently received of the existence of a revolutionary plot with ramifications in most of the countries of Europe. It appears that the day the Emperor was fired at, the chiefs of the secret societies received accounts that the Emperor was killed, and that Paris was in insurrection. The hope is not yet entirely given up that Pianori, with the prospect of death before him, may make some important disclosures.

SPAIN.—The Queen of Spain has signed the bill respecting ecclesiastical property, after many tears. She assured her ministers it that was against her conscience, but they quieted her by taking the responsibility on themselves alone.—Mr. Perry, the American Charge, has announced the acceptance by the U. S. Government of the proposed arrangement of the Black Warrior affair. His note expresses, in the name of the President of the United States, the most friendly sentiments, and the hope that the conclusion of the affair will draw closer the relations between the two countries.

RUSSIA.—Accounts received in Vienna from Russia give a melancholy picture of the state of commerce and manufactures in that country, all the laborers usually employed in agriculture having been taken to construct defences along the line of the Vistula and the coast of the Baltic. The war has annulled commerce in the Baltic and Black Seas, and the condition of the poorer classes is becoming worse every day.

FRANCE.—The King of Portugal was expected to arrive in Paris, on a visit, about the 20th.—The last will and testament of the Great Napoleon has just been ordered to be fulfilled, as far as possible. Abd-el-Kader has been granted permission to visit Paris during the great Exhibition. Nearly 300 heavy guns have been sent from Paris to the army before Sebastopol, since the recommencement of the bombardment.

PORTUGAL.—A contract has been made for laying down the telegraph wires between Lisbon, Badajos, and Oporto. A bill has passed the Chamber of Deputies allowing the Duke of Saldanha to retain the Presidency of the Council independent of any ministerial portfolio. A unanimous vote of both houses had authorized the King to resume his foreign tour until his majority.

ANOTHER GRAND SYMPHONY.

CHEERING FROM THE SOUTH!

Under this head a correspondent sends us an account of a new and highly original musical work, recently produced in Richmond, Va., by a German gentleman from that state, one Dr. Treibeneger,* who, it is suggested, was inspired to compose his "Plantation Symphony" by the success which has attended the efforts of Herr Loskwitz and other writers of descriptive music in Germany. Dr. Treibeneger, it would seem, had gone to Virginia laden with prejudice against the peculiar institution of that state, which were only finally conquered when he became, by marriage, the possessor of a wife and a plantation stocked with one hundred negroes. This auspicious event is hinted at in various tender love passages scattered through his symphony. However, from this moment very little investigation served to convince the Dr. of the weakness and injustice of his former prejudices against the institution he now so justly celebrates, and his symphony may be regarded as the voice of one coming to the light. Our correspondent, who seems to have been so unfortunate as to be present at the production of this great work, proceeds as follows:

"Among those present to listen, I observed Senator Mason (author of the fugitive slave bill) Judge Douglas, (of the Nebraska Bill,) Rev. Mr. Stringfellow author of a Bible-slavery pamphlet, Mr. Suttle, owner of Tony Burns, Rev. Nehemiah Adams and E. G. Loring, who were the only persons from the North. The presence of these distinguished gentlemen excited much attention. It was a proud moment for Treibeneger. He came forth to lead the orchestra, and was received by an applause in advance—justified by his wealth and the character of his subject. He seemed to be a man of about fifty, short, thick set—a face which reminds me much of the likeness of the poet Herrick. He bowed gracefully, waved his baton, and the symphony burst upon us.

"How shall I describe this great work of art! how shall I utter the ineffable! I rejoice that men have imaginations everywhere, or I should despair of conveying any impression. Dr. Treibeneger, with singular originality, has commenced the symphony (which is in B flat) with the movement Andante gravisso. The buzz-buzz and hum-hum of conversation has ceased, the perfect quiet of the audience is uninterrupted save by an occasional spitting of tobacco,—when the grateful strains steal forth with enchanting power. The plantation stretches out before you with graceful, undulating beauty. I had, as this beautiful scene arose, memories of the beautiful theme of Haydn's Creation. For instance, where the tobacco field arrives, making "eye music,"† one is reminded of the passage, "With verdure clad," &c; and when the cotton field came in view, I could hear the words "Here shoots the healing plant." With this in the background, the Virginia gentleman is seen going forth with his wife in a coach to take a ride around the estate, and to see the hands at work. The music here was similar in movement, though superior in effect, to Haydn's "In native worth and honor clad." With one accord the audience felt that this was a fitting description of Dr. T. and his plantation with negroes; and for a little while the Andante paused—(where the driver was mounting to the box on a figure skillfully carried from the cellos to second violin, ending with the crack of a whip in C sharp)—because of the great applause which this great man received with modesty and yet dignity. The rest of the Andante brings the carriage to the place where the negroes are collected at work. It closes with the old and favorite air of Old Virginny never tire, to which some one, whom I suspected as an incendiary, sitting behind me, added the words, never tire because she goes to turnat [illegible]. The Andante closed, time was allowed for gentlemen to take refreshments, which I observed Douglas, Mason, and others did.

"The next movement is Allegro molto e con brio. The carriage arrives where other negroes have been put to work, but in the absence of the overseer have betaken themselves to lolling, singing, dancing. This was a happy thought in the composer, inasmuch as it allowed the introduction of much of the life and incident peculiar to the South. The melody of "Old Uncle Ned" is heard—faintly at first, then in full chorus. Then is heard a shuffle as of a jig, (this on the oboe and second violin in a few quick notes in A flat) while a slight adagio shows several idling under a tree. The carriage is not yet seen!—of great brilliance in what Mrs. Browning calls the "sad perplexed minors," we have a lamentation over the idleness of negroes, their deceit and indisposition to work. The conversation on this subject is carried on in the carriage—the violoncello representing the master, and the flute varied by clarionet, representing the lady, (every one thinking of the accomplished Mrs. T.!) The characteristic laziness of these blacks, and dishonesty in stealing time from their master, is eloquently brought out, and it is seen from a few notes in the ophicleide, that the present instance demands decided and severe measures. The master's resolution is given in a few bass notes.

"But the carriage has drawn near. A little scherzo describes their hurrying to their work: but it is too late! They have sinned; they must suffer! A few flashes of the eye in A major announce that a storm is coming on in plantation affairs. They gather together at a barn where punishment is to be given. The overseers are all put into requisition with their cowhides. A movement very strong and resembling the storm in a Pastorale of Beethoven, represents the wailings of the whipped and the warning voice of the master (violoncello) and the firm though moderate tones of the lady, saying "you know I've taught you better (flute, C sharp). One fellow, who was found reading when he ought to have been working, is whipped more than the rest (in scores). Strong emotion for a few bars. The evil effects of teaching negroes to read are descanted upon with a movement like the first of the Sonata appassionata. (Mr. Suttle here had tears in his eyes and his hand was seized by Judge Douglas convulsively). And with these various and conflicting emotions the Allegro ceased; and, as before, the audience retired a few moments to the bar.

"The Scherzo. By a few sudden strokes we are warned that something wrong has occurred. A few clear notes on the trumpet inform us that Tony, the one flogged for reading, has run away. We have here mingled the confusion consequent on such an event, and a lamentation over the ingratitude of negroes, and the depravity of the human heart. (Rev. N. Adams's eyes were seen upturned. Senator Mason mutters with emotion, 'Dam shame.' Com. Loring says he'll see justice done the master. Douglas is heard to say, patriotically, Bri' th' da' nigger to m'—I'll wallup'm.)

"Nothing now heard but the excited cries of the hunters, the barking of the hunting dogs, the cries of the silly parents and relatives of Tony. The Scherzo ceases—Tony not being found.

"The Finale. I do not hesitate to pronounce this the greatest stroke of artistic genius in modern times. In this the true power of TREIBENEGER stands forth confessed. In a few rapid and joyful notes in the major key we are informed that Tony is discovered. And we are soon introduced, (with some difficulty arising from bayonets,) into the United States Courtroom at Boston. The Commissioner comes forth under a grand flourish of trumpets, playing 'Star Spangled Banner.' The prisoner is brought in to 'Old Folks at Home,' to touch his stony heart, if possible. The examination of witnesses, addresses of counsel, excitement in the courtroom are finely given. (I thought the tempos a little too quickly taken here.) Then follows crash after crash of tremendous power, wherein Justice triumphs over the mob; wherein Tony's sin is punished; you can feel the presence of an advancing army (such as Jullien says is in the 5th symphony); Tony is borne down, to the tune of Yankee Doodle, to a revenue cutter, and on amid the winds and waves to old Virginia (air 'Carry me Back,') skillfully brought in. Here he is received on the plantation. The negroes all assemble, and those of the neighbors who have requested that their slaves may have an admonition. Tony is stripped and tied in a few chords of great strength. He is cowhided for an hour. It is repeated a week. He is then sold at auction. The whole closes with a splendid arrangement of 'Hail Columbia, happy land,' which makes this the only symphony besides Beethoven's 9th, which ends in vocal chorus, the whole crowd united in the strain. Nine cheers were then given for Dr. TREIBENEGER, and three for each of the distinguished gentlemen present, until it came to Mr. Loring, who had nine.

"I understand that this great work of art is to be produced next fall in the city of Washington, when Congress assembles; and I believe Commissioner Loring declared that it would have a fine effect to introduce it into Boston and other large cities in the Union."

THE second shipment of wheat from this port this season, was made by our townsman W. W. King, upon the Schr. Maple Leaf, Capt. Earle. She cleared for Buffalo on Saturday last, with a cargo of 13,000 bushels. There are about 120,000 bushels more in store here for shipment. —Sheboygan Times.

MOCK SESSION.—The Massachusetts Legislature is accustomed to appropriate a portion of the last day of the session to "fun," in "Mock Session." We copy a few items of business done by the present Legislature on such occasion:

Ordered, That the bill in relation to colored children be referred to Mr. Lyer, of Boston.

The chair appointed as a Committee to improve the breed of quadrupeds:—Mr. Lyon of Fitchburg; Mr. Bull of Concord, and Mr. Brayton of Boston.

Ordered, That Mr. Cook of Bellingham, and Mr. Fry of Marlborough, be directed to seize Mr. Bacon of Webster, and Mr. Old Ham of Medford, and serve them up for table use.

The bill concerning the measurement of Milk, was referred to Mr. Milliken of New Bedford.

The bill concerning the sale of corn by weight, was referred to Mr. Miller of Ludlow.

The question raised by Mr. Griffin of Charlestown, "What went ye out for to see?" was referred to Mr. Reed of Newburyport.

I have sold about one half of it, and so far the people who have used it are satisfied that it has cured the [illegible]. It has certainly stopped the Ague in every one who has used it, and six of the cases were of long standing. My sister, who has had it for five or six years back, and could never get it stopped, except by Quinine, and then only so long as they would take it, is now, I think, entirely cured by your remedy. If it this continues to keep off the Ague, as I think it will, you may expect from me large orders. I am, &c., yours, truly, G. R. MOKINLY.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Two Christians Wanted—A Slave Catcher in Town.

There is now a Reverend gentleman in this city, from Missouri, endeavoring to contrive ways and means to take back to bondage two Christian men—brothers in the same church to which he belongs! He says his brothers are very valuable, and that they are chiefly so on account of their sincere and unaffected piety. Our Missourian's bowels yearn with compassion for their condition here, and he is quite sure, if the officers would only bring him into contact with his "property," that he could convince them that it is their Christian duty to return to his service. Perhaps they will not go,—who, then, has got two Christian men for sale? Who has a life lease on two Christian men—the consideration for hard work being hard fare, poor clothes, and an occasional flogging, to say nothing of the sanctuary exercises under the lead of the slave catcher from Missouri? Christian men wanted! Who, in Chicago, has two Christian men for sale? Pious men, sincere men, brothers in "our church," only are wanted.

Mr. White Cravat, don't you think you had better go home and thank God that your slaves have escaped, and pray to him to keep you free from the sin of owning more. Try it a while!

Outrage upon a Female.

A lady, who like many other ladies in America, was traveling alone, arrived in this city in the cars from Galena early yesterday morning. Being a stranger here and wishing to go on to Michigan, she inquired the way to the proper depot of a man who had introduced himself to her notice the day before and who had volunteered to take charge of her. The man replied that he would show her the way, and she set out with him. He led her through several obscure streets and finally stopped at a house which he said it was necessary to enter. She demurred, but he insisted and entered. She followed unwillingly. He led the way to a room in the back part of the house, where the lady saw another man with a dark lantern. The man who had brought her there then commenced a conversation with the other in a low tone, and in a few minutes the latter blew out the light. Seriously alarmed the lady now turned and fled, succeeded in reaching the door, rushed into the street, and ran, she knew not whither. The man pursued her, overtook her, endeavored to persuade her that the light went out by accident, and insisted on going with her to the depot. On arriving there, he said he should charge her $5 for his trouble, or keep her carpet bag. The lady of course refused to pay him, and while he was insisting that he would be paid, he was observed by the police, arrested by officers and taken to the watchhouse. He gave his name as Edward A. Shultz.

Being brought before Justice Aiken yesterday morning, he was fined $25.

It is the pride and the boast of Americans that a lady may travel from one end of the country to the other, alone, and needing no other protection than her sex. Every man feels bound, in honor to see that an unprotected female is treated, at least with respect:—and we trust that if this precious scamp or any one else attempts to cut such capers in future, he will meet with even severer punishment.

DEMOCRATIC REJOICING.

The opinion was expressed in the Tribune yesterday morning, that the Democratic cannon firing, speech making and general jubilation on the lake shore, on Tuesday evening—were the consequences of the late Administration triumph in Virginia. We have since learned that our informant was mistaken, and that the rejoicing was in consequence of the legitimate application of the Nebraska bill to, and the establishment of Slavery in, the Territory of Kansas. If so, the calling upon the author of the Nebraska iniquity to make a speech was particularly appropriate. But as we were not there to hear, we will not be answerable for the truth of the report.

Police Court—Justices Aiken and Milliken.

Chicago, Wednesday, May 29.

Limon Rockels, driving on sidewalk fined $10.
M. Welch, drunk, fined $3.
H. Young, fast driving on a bridge, fined $5.
J. Kentry, drunk, fined $1 and sent to Bridewell for ten days.
Michael Orbett, drunk, fined $3.
Catharine Archibald, drunk, fined $5.
Basler Sippa, drunk, fined $3.
David Marcy, " " $5.
Alexander Cunningham, drunk and abusing his family, fined $10.
Edward A. Schultz, insulting a lady, fined $25.
John Martin, drunk, fined $1.

Arrest for Street Preaching.

A man giving his name as Evangelist Doyle was arrested yesterday morning for preaching and making a disturbance in the streets. He is believed to be partially deranged. Being questioned about 2 o'clock, he said that he was a prophet of the Lord, that he must preach and could not think of stopping, that he wanted to be let out of this dungeon, or if he must stay in, that he wanted some dinner and a new testament.

Norwegian Temperance Meeting.

Dr. N. S. Davis of this city, will address the Norwegians of this vicinity on the subject of Prohibition, at the Scandinavian Church, on Superior street, North side, this evening at 7 1-2 o'clock. The Norwegians, as a mass, will go heartily for the law. This meeting is an earnest of their action at the polls. Well done, Scandinavia!

Elegant Picture Frames.

The business of manufacturing picture frames and frames for mirrors is becoming quite an extensive one in this city. We mentioned in our article on the Manufactures of Chicago, published some months ago, the establishment of Mr. William Holmes, at the corner of Lake and Wells streets. At that time, Mr. Holmes had only been in business here a few months.

Happening to call there again yesterday, we were struck with the indications of a great increase in the business. Frames for mirrors of the largest size, interspersed with the most gorgeous frames for pictures, we saw in every stage of progress, and those that were finished would be worthy to grace the walls of a palace. Gentlemen who are about selecting articles of this kind for the adornment of their new residences, would do well to remember Mr. Holmes.

Interesting to the Ladies.

The new bonnet establishment of Mr. W. K. Stow, under the Tremont House, 57 Clark street is thronged with visitors for the reason that Mr. Stow buys his goods of the manufacturer, and is enabled to supply his customers with everything in his line at a very low price. For beauty and variety of style this establishment stands without a rival in the whole North West. For further particulars, look in upon him, and see his advertisement in another column.

The Rev. R. H. Clarkson, Rector of St. James' Church, we are informed, through the kindness of the Vestry of the Church who have granted him leave of absence for a few months, proposes to spend the coming summer and fall in Europe. He leaves on Monday next, and preaches his farewell sermon on Sunday Evening. We understand that the Church will be open regularly for services, during Mr. Clarkson's absence.

We wish him a pleasant journey and a safe return.

Metropolitan Hall.

The Backus Minstrels continue to draw crowded and delighted houses at the Metropolitan. Their concerts are much less objectionable than others of the class, though they admit of improvement in an essential particular. Mysterious Disappearance.

There was considerable excitement in the city yesterday on account of the announcement that R. M. MELLEN, dealer in papers and periodicals Dearborn street, Theatre building, had mysteriously disappeared, and that fears were entertained that he had been foully dealt with. The last that was seen of him was on Tuesday evening, about 8 o'clock, just before he was to cross Clark street bridge, on his way home, which is over one mile north, on Division street, at the head of La Salle. At the time the bridge was open, and he started to go toward it as it closed, but it is scarcely possible that he could have fallen off without being noticed. Indeed there was very little danger of such accident to him, as he has always been very cautious and strictly temperate. He had no business abroad, and was anxious to hasten home, as his only child was very sick and required his presence. The presumption that he fell into the river, or that he left the city on any railroad train is altogether improbable; while the fact that he had considerable money in his possession gives strength to the belief that he has been foully dealt with. The police and a number of other citizens were inquiring and searching after him yesterday, but up to a late hour last night no clue to his whereabouts had been obtained.

Fire Alarms.

We have expressed, briefly, but decidedly, our disapproval of the plan or system of fire-alarms proposed to the Council on last Friday evening and ordered to be printed. As we have not hitherto published that plan, and in order that our readers may see what it is, we here give it:

The Fire Department is hereby divided into three Divisions. The South Division is District No. 1 ... The West ... The North ...

The city is hereby divided into six Districts. The South Division, North of Madison street, is District No. 1. The South Division, South of Madison street, is District No. 2. The West Division, south of Randolph street, is District No. 3. The West Division, north of Randolph street, is Dist. No. 4. The North Division, west of Clark street, is Dist. No. 5. The North Division, east of Clark street, is Dist. No. 6.

The alarm bell will be rung hereafter in the following manner:

Nine strokes of the bell is a general alarm, the district in which the fire is located to be denoted first by its No. of strikes ...

1-2-3-4-5-6 calls Department to Dist. No. 1, &c.

Six strokes of the bell call out the Department of the division in which the fire is located, viz:—

First Division—1-5-5-1 calls division No. 1 to Dist. No. 1.
... 2-5-5-2 calls division No. 1 to Dist. No. 2.
Second ... 3-5-5-3 calls division No. 2 to Dist. No. 3.
... 4-5-5-4 calls division No. 2 to Dist. No. 4.
Third ... 5-5-5-5 calls division No. 3 to Dist. No. 5.
... 6-6-5-6 calls division No. 3 to Dist. No. 6.

Four strokes of the bell, as 4-5-4, is an alarm where the location of the fire is not known, and the Department out of the division of the bell giving the alarm will not respond until otherwise called.

The bells denoted in bells are: The Court House bell, West and North Market bells. All other bells ringing for fires are requested to be governed by the rules regulating these bells. The Court House bell will be regarded as the one as hereby a watchman being kept there as a lookout.

After May 28th, the Court House bell will also designate the hours of 7 and 12, 1, 6 and 9, by ringing 2-2-2, and all other fire bells will ring in like manner for the same hours.

Now what Chicago wants is a permanent, simple and effective system of fire-alarms.

The plan above proposed is unnecessarily complicated. The number of signals is much greater than there is any need for, and the number of strokes six times as numerous as necessary. The division of the city into districts is unwise and must be subject to continual changes, for as the city increases and expands, new districts must be made, and new changes of signals introduced. The division of the Fire Department into three independent bodies is unwise, and calculated to produce a cold and unsympathising spirit between the different parts of the city. Would any member of spirit belonging to Engine Co. No. 6, remain quietly in their engine house if a fire broke out just east of Randolph street bridge?—A fireman having the true esprit de corps never stops to inquire how far off the fire is. All he wants to know is, "Where is it?" And that once ascertained he rests not till he is there and at work.

We are satisfied that the system of fire alarms in use in Philadelphia is decidedly and by far the best for our city; and we are glad to see that the suggestion meets with favor on the part of all the firemen with whom we have conversed.

By that system one stroke means North: two means South: three means East; and four means West.

1-3, 1-3 means North East.
1-4, 1-4 " " West.
2-3, 2-3 " South-East.
2-4, 2-4 " West.

That is all. Six strokes are the greatest number necessary for indicating any direction.

Under the plan proposed to the Council, eight nine, ten, eleven, and even twelve strokes are required to indicate the direction.

Besides this, there is a general alarm proposed, of 9 strokes; an uncertain alarm of 4 strokes, and a time keeping alarm of 2 strokes. Would it be possible to make the thing any more complicated?

The last paragraph of "the plan proposed" strikes us as particularly ridiculous. What connection is there between fire-alarms and the hour of the day? If the alarm bell must act as a clock, let it strike numbers corresponding to the hours indicated—"this and nothing more."

Let us have the Philadelphia plan.

Another Mass Meeting.

At South Market Hall this Thursday evening. Let the friends of Temperance from the three divisions of the city, rally again to-night! We understand the meeting will be addressed by THOMAS YEATMAN, Esq., of St. Louis, Mr. Merwin and others. Do not fail to be on hand at 8 o'clock.

GRAHAM.—We have from Dancenhower, Graham's Magazine for June. Its table of contents is full and varied, and the steel plates are excellent.

Instantaneous Fire Engine.

Mr. Guthrie, the inventor of the Instantaneous Fire Engine, gave an exhibition of his invention to the city authorities, in the Hall of the Court House, a few days ago, which was quite successful. We have on a former occasion, explained the modus operandi of this invention, which our space to-day will not permit us to repeat.—Briefly, it consists in applying strong atmospheric pressure to the water in a series of pipes and the placing of hydrants in such a position around the different blocks of buildings in the city, that from them, water can be thrown to any spot on the block. No other engine will be necessary than the one now at the water-works. The water-pipes now in use will answer every purpose with the addition of pipes leading from them to the hydrants. Two hydrants or water-plugs on each side of a block will be sufficient for every purpose. A fire then breaking out, say on Clark street, opposite the Tribune Office, the signal is given by the man on the Court House steeple to the man at the water works, who simply turns a spigot. A hose is attached to the hydrant, and as quickly as that can be done, a stream of water rises in it to any desired height.

The cost of testing the invention will be but trifling, and we think it would be well to give it a trial.

Look out for Burglars.

The Races commence at the Race Course, south of the city, to-morrow, and no doubt professional gamblers and experienced pick-pockets, burglars and cut-throats will be gathered here from nearly every part of the Union. They seem to have an instinct concerning such things as strong as buzzards have for a carrion; for the announcement of a race brings them up from north and south, east and west. Formerly, when Chicago had a race course near by, and no railroads to facilitate ingress or egress, they came here by hundreds every year, to carry on their profession of gambling and stealing. How fully they carried out their schemes, the numerous cases of pocket picking, robbery and burglary noticed in the columns of the Tribune at that time, will show. And now that our city is accessible by railroad from every part of the Union, and the facilities for gambling and stealing greatly increased, we may expect a perfect inundation of scoundrels. In view of this, we suggest to all housekeepers to put bolts upon the inside of their doors, and to thoroughly secure their windows. The ingenuity of these rascals in picking locks, and getting through windows, is marvellous.

DANENHOWER sends us "BLANCHE DEARWOOD," a new American story from the press of Bunce & Brother, New York. The Boston Atlas, having been favored with a copy of the work in advance of its publication, says "it cannot but have a successful run, and ultimately take a permanent place among the standard romances of modern life. The interest of the story is well sustained, and the plot develops itself easily and naturally. The characters are well conceived and are drawn with ever constant fidelity to their conceptions, as the story proceeds. We predict for it a popularity and success of no ordinary character, if the reading public share with us our impression of its attractions."

Little Boy Found.

A little boy apparently three or four years old was found wandering on the Clark Street road south of the city, last evening, and taken to the residence of Benjamin Dilworth in that neighborhood, where his parents can find him. He wore a chip hat, and was dressed in a linen suit. He has light hair.

Doesticks not Dead.

We are rejoiced to state, on the authority of a gentleman direct from Ann Arbor, Michigan, that the immortal DOESTICKS is not dead. Our informant saw him yesterday morning in excellent health and spirits.

THE NEW GRADE.

Efforts will be made we learn to defeat the city authorities in the establishment of the new street grade, by injunction sued out of one of the Courts. It is contended that the city is responsible for all damage that may be done to private property by altering grades; and that, in this case the damage will be so large that the city will be unable to pay the demands that will necessarily exist, hence the parties aggrieved are about to take the step we have indicated.

The Fountains.

One of the fountains in the Court House Square was put up yesterday. The others will follow soon, and then we shall have the cooling Streams.

TEN GOOD REASONS.

Persons, who frequent the vicinity of Clark street, between Lake and Randolph, can have failed to notice the large and increasing business transacted in that locality, in Clothing and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods; and especially by TAPPAN, in the Old Post Office Building ... Remember, the OLD POST OFFICE BUILDING is the place for the best goods and the best bargains.

FOREIGN NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.

New York, May 30.

The steamship Pacific arrived about 7 o'clock unannounced owing to a dense fog—she brings 135 passengers, among them Hon. R. M. Lean, U. S. Commissioner to China. The Pacific arrived out at Liverpool the P. M. on the 11th and sailed about noon for New York on the 19th.

The St. Louis arrived off Cowes on the 18th.

The siege of Sebastopol makes but little, if any progress. The latest dates by mail are to April 30th, and by telegraph so far as published to 12th of May.

General Canrobert reviewed the entire French army, and assured them that they would soon enter Sebastopol, either by the door or window.

Symptoms have transpired, extended operations being about to commence on the part of the allies.

A force of 15,000 Turks, French, and English hastily embarked on board of all the available ships near Sebastopol, and stood away for the direction of the sea of Azoff. They returned in a day or two, and as hastily disembarked.

Omar Pasha and his troops were making all speed to ensconce themselves in Eupatoria again.

The combat on the night of the 24th, between the Russians and French, was a desperate one. The Russians attempted to take new rifle pits, and the French partially prevented them. 700 French were placed hors du combat.

The French managed to push their sappers considerably forward, and mounted several new guns.

A dispatch of May first says advances are progressing slowly but surely.

Lord Raglan's dispatch of same day says the Russians had constructed a new battery on the left of the Menchikoff, and there was every appearance of the establishment of a very large camp on the plateau above Belbeck and on the north side extending towards Mackenzie's farm. The Russians made a sortie on the night of the 11th, on the advanced works of the Left attack, but were repulsed with considerable loss; a short truce was granted on the evening of the 10th, to allow the Russians to bury their dead in front of the allies advances.

Gortchakoff telegraphed that the allies on the fifth and sixth were engaged in augmenting their batteries and reinforcing their approaches against the Central Bastion.

The French Government is understood to have received dispatches announcing heavy rains and that trenches were full of water, thereby suspending operations.

Count Coyonini, Austrian Commander-in-chief, had proclaimed martial law in the principalities.

The capitulation taxes on Christians in Turkey is finally abolished.

A new manifesto from the Czar orders a new levy of 12 men in every 1000 in the 17 western provinces, to be completed by the end of July.

A reconnoisance had ascertained that the Russians had 25,000 men near Saki.

A despatch states that Russia will not consider herself bound to abide by the first two points, unless the whole of Germany remains strictly neutral.

Indications of a more intimate relationship between Austria and Russia are apparent, and an armed neutrality is becoming more and more probable. An important Conference between Representatives of the two powers has been held. The allies are understood to have sent an ultimatum to the Swedish Court, and as an indication that it will be accepted, Sweden is said to have ordered an immediate enrollment of militia. The French Baltic fleet had arrived out, and the allied fleet was pushing forward.

LATEST.

Gen. Canrobert had resigned and is succeeded by Gen. Pelissier. The Moniteur publishes the following as Canrobert's resignation dispatch:

"My shattered health no longer allowing me to continue in the chief command, my duty towards my sovereign and my country, compels me to ask you to transfer the command to Gen. Pelissier, a skillful and experienced leader. The army to which I leave him is full of war, ardor and confidence.

I beseech the Emperor to leave me a soldier's place as a General of Division.

The Minister of War replied in terms of acceptance and gives Canrobert command of the corps of Gen. Pelissier.

A dispatch from Canrobert, May 16th, says, "we continue our works before the place."

Various attempts to smoke out the enemy by stink pots have perfectly succeeded.

Our troops continue in excellent condition.

Three divisions of the French army left Maslak for the Crimea.

The cholera has almost disappeared.

BERLIN.—Friday.—Russian merchantmen have been captured off Dunamund at Revel, and Steg of truce was fired—course not known.

From Vienna we learn that things have undergone a great change. New propositions were forwarded yesterday to London and Paris. It is said Austria will give her material support to the Western powers, should they accept, and Russia reject her propositions.

Quiet has been restored in the Ukrane.

Telegraphic news from Berlin and Vienna fails to confirm the fact that Nesselrode had resigned. He had issued a new circular. Contents as yet unknown.

The clipper Great Republic has arrived at Marseilles to embark troops.

In Parliament Friday evening Lord Panmure stated the details of certain proposed reforms in the army, having for their object the consolidation of the civil department of Military affairs.

Rumors of dissensions in the British Cabinet gain ground.

Lord John Russell was said to be the impracticable subject.

To the present time between three and four thousand recruits have been obtained for foreign legions by British agents in the continent, independent of the Swiss.

Varna, 17.

There is heavy firing every night at Sebastopol.

The expedition to Kertch has not been renewed.

SECOND DESPATCH.

The Democratic movement gains ground.

The Queen had condescended to bestow medals upon private soldiers who had returned wounded from the wars. The distribution took place at the Horse Guards, where a throne was erected. A fine military spectacle was presented. Victoria handed over 3000 medals in the space of an hour, commencing with the Duke of Cambridge, Lords Cardigan and Lucan, Sir De Lacey Evans and ending with the privates.

An enquiry into the loss of the emigrant ship John has resulted in a verdict of gross carelessness on the part of the Captain and crew.

The King of Sardinia is rumored to be negotiating a marriage with Queen Victoria's eldest daughter.

FRANCE.—The universal exhibition was opened in Paris, May 15, with much fun and ceremony, though the array was anything but complete. The Emperor and Empress were present with all the officers of state and some 8000 persons.

Pianori, the would-be assassin of the Emperor was executed at 5 o'clock in the morning in prison. He admitted his guilt, but refused to make any developments, exclaiming vive la Republic just as the knife fell.

An extraordinary story was rumored that the pretended attack on the Emperor was a sham, the real Pianori a police agent, now sent out of the country and a lay figure executed in his stead.

The Emperor is said to be about to issue a manifesto to the army in the East, stating the reasons of his not proceeding to the seat of war.

From Washington.

Washington, May 30.

Extraordinary efforts are being made by both parties for the municipal election on Monday. The judges are all K. N., and the antis are resolved to have outside committees at the polls to count each vote to prevent any deception. It is thought the elections will be very close. The Secretary of the Navy has appointed Com. Paulding to command the Home Squadron in place of McAuley whose appointment was but temporary.

THE MAINE K. N. CONVENTION.

Bangor, 30.

The K. N. State Convention, which has been in session here since yesterday, adjourned this P. M. It was fully attended, and a harmonic spirit prevailed. When it is made it will not be in convention, but each member of the order will have an opportunity to express his individual views, and a nomination will be thus made some time previous to August 1st. Strong anti-slavery resolutions were passed with but three dissenting voices, and it is understood that comprehensive ground was taken in reference to the politics of this State recognizing a Republican party and the propriety of carrying out the nominations of that party whenever practicable. Delegates were elected to the National Convention which assembles in Philadelphia next month.

The Liquor Law in Boston.
